La Guardia To Direct Civil Affairs In Italy

MAYOR CHOSEN FOR VITAL POST BY PRESIDENT

New Post To Carry Rank Of Brigadier General And Require Senate Okeh

SITUATION IN MUDDLE

Dark Picture Painted Of Acute Shortages In European Boot

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, it was learned today, has been selected by President Roosevelt to take over the direction of civilian problems in the liberated areas of Italy.

According to Washington officials, this decision was reached by President Roosevelt at his recent Quebec conference with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

The President disclosed last week that he and the prime minister had discussed the Italian problem at their meeting and had determined to see to it that the Italian people do not starve or freeze during the coming winter. Urgency of the problems in Italy were brought into the conference by a report by Brig. Gen. William O'Dwyer, American member of the Allied control mission for Italy, who conferred with Mr. Roosevelt before he left for Quebec.

Severe Shortage

O'Dwyer is revealed to have reported that severe shortages of food and clothing threaten the population in liberated areas and made specific recommendations providing more food, improving transportation and for relaxing military rule in these zones.

Revelation of the plan to send La Guardia to Italy recalled the fact that he had desired such a post for a long time.

In April, 1943, an effort was made to send him to North Africa, with the rank of Brigadier General, to administer conquered territory there and to move on into Italy as that country was liberated. But congressional protest against "political generals" scotched the appointment before it was formally made.

Military Rank

It was revealed that La Guardia's new post carries the rank of brigadier general, and will require senate confirmation.

Dewey Promptly Takes Up FDR Challenge And Slam Bang Tilt Looms

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—President Roosevelt's opening political speech accusing the Republicans of fraud and "malicious falsehood" served notice on the nation's voters today that the chips were down for a slam-bang 1944 campaign.

Even as Democratic leaders were cheering the fighting character of the President's words, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, his Republican opponent, promptly took up the challenge. He promised to answer in kind—starting with his speech tonight in Oklahoma City.

Aside from indicating that the pattern of the fourth term drive will be to ignore no GOP threat, Mr. Roosevelt's address to the AFL Teamsters Union held these points of significance to Washington observers:

William G. Pickrel Raps Congressional Record Of Opponent

Circleville and Pickaway county residents took time out from their Monday morning duties to hear William G. Pickrel, candidate for United States senator from Ohio, and other Democratic candidates at a short rally held in front of the court house.

Mr. Pickrel attacked the record of his opponent, Senator Robert A. Taft, in a short speech. He said that Senator Taft had opposed voting by service men and introduced a law to keep them from getting literature that will tell them about the candidates. Mr. Pickrel declared he favored farmer aid programs and liberal old age pension laws while Senator Taft opposed these kinds of legislation.

BUTTER HITS LOWEST LEVEL IN 29 YEARS

CHICAGO, Sept. 25—Civilians will be virtually dependent on day-to-day production for their butter during the next few months because the butter in storage has shrunk to the lowest level in 29 years or more, Owen M. Richards, manager of the American Dairy Association, declared today.

Richards illustrated the situation by saying that Sept. 1 only one pound was in stockpile for civilians for every 15 pounds that would have been available at a comparable date in peace-time years.

He added that the immediate outlook is for a continued shortage for civilians in spite of the fact the government has announced it will quit buying butter next month temporarily.

INQUIRIES NEAR CLOSE

People Can Draw Their Own Conclusions, Solon Says, If Facts Are Known

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—Sen. Homer Ferguson (R) Mich., disclosed today that he will demand "full publicity" when the Army-Navy investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster is completed.

"I understand that they will be through in a couple weeks," Ferguson said.

Separate investigations have been under way by the War and Navy departments for the last two months in accordance with a resolution sponsored by Ferguson and approved by congress June 7.

Ferguson said he would not be satisfied with merely the conclusions reached by the Navy and Army board of inquiries, but would insist that the findings on Real Admiral Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter O. Short, Pearl Harbor commanders at the time of the Jap attack Dec. 7, 1941, be also made public.

Wants Full Facts

"What's the use of having an investigation if all you get are the conclusions?" he asked. "The complete findings should be made public. I want to see them myself and whatever I am entitled to see, the people are."

"The American public is great at drawing its own conclusions," he added.

Ferguson said the congressional resolution did not specifically direct that the findings be made public or a report be made to congress. Consequently, he added, he has asked the war and navy departments to supply him with copies of the official orders under which the boards of inquiry are operating.

He had been assured, he stated, that they would be made available to him today.

"We'll be able to determine from the orders the scope of the investigation," he explained, "and just what they cover."

"I presume that when the boards complete their work, they will make a report to the secretaries of war and the navy. But that, in my estimation, is not sufficient and I shall demand that the findings as well as the conclusions be made available to the public."

The Ferguson resolution provided that the secretaries of war and the navy should proceed "forthwith" with an investigation of the facts surrounding the Pearl Harbor attack.

WALLACE SAYS LAND DEPENDS ON NEW DEAL

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 25—Vice-President Henry A. Wallace declared today that the New Deal could better handle the post-war reconstruction period because it put men above money.

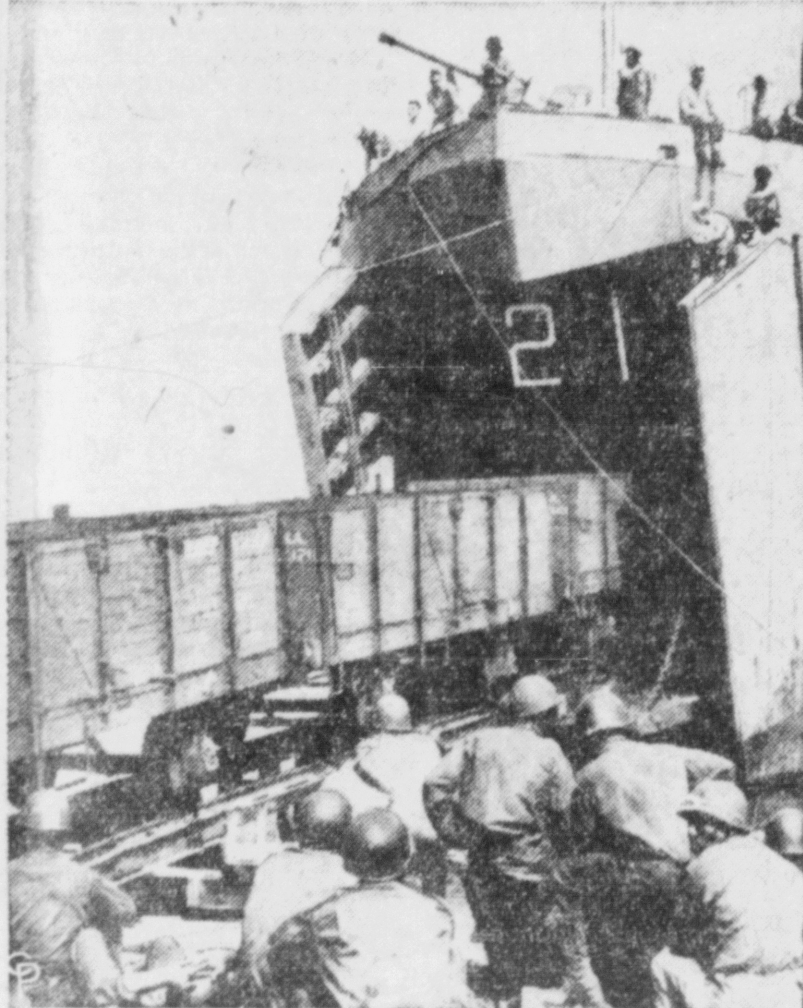

In an interview over radio station WBW, Wallace said the New Deal could maintain the system of free enterprise better than "any reactionary party."

"Any administration that puts dollars first and men second will inevitably create unemployment," said Wallace, "whereas an administration which puts men fully employed at creative labor as a primary objective will find some way to make money for the servant instead of the master."

Giant New U. S. Glider To Prove Big Military Headache For Germans

CAMP MACKALL, N. C., Sept. 25—War strategist Adolf "general intuition" Hitler had another military headache today as the U. S. Army troop carrier command prepared to send its giant new CG-13 glider into action on the world's battle fronts.

The huge motorless craft, with a twofold capacity of the standard CG-4A glider which spearheaded the Normandy and Holland airborne invasions, was put through its final paces during an airborne divisions war maneuvers in North Carolina.

The sleek, plywood glider, which carries 30 fully equipped troops, is one of the Army's latest developments for dispatching men and material quickly into combat areas.

NEW OHIO-MADE TANK DESTROYER WRECKS NAZIS

LIMA, O., Sept. 25—How a brand new weapon, the M-18 tank destroyer, helped to make possible the amazing dash of the Allies through France was revealed today for the first time by Capt. Charlie R. Adkins of Columbus Grove, an automobile expert back home from making frontline observations with the Third Army in France.

Hundreds of the 18-ton vehicles have been dispatched to the fighting fronts from the Cleveland ordinance district's Lima tank depot, but they have been on the restricted list until now.

"The M-18 is the hottest thing in today's armored warfare," Captain Adkins declared. "It's a streamlined speed demon that put a streak of lightning in our drive across France into Germany."

He said that the tank destroyer unit which he observed once sped 65 miles in three and a half hours in combat and another time covered 165 miles in a day and a half, partly under blackout conditions.

The officer saw the M-18's in action in Brest, St. Lo, Le Mans, Orleans and St. Malo.

The vehicle is armed with a 76-mm. gun and its tracks have 10 bogey wheels that operate independently so that the breaking of one will not interfere with the operation. Dual controls make possible an instantaneous change in drivers.

Sky Troop Fight Epic Of Warfare

200 Men Face Tiger Tanks, Flame Throwers, Mortars In Delaying Action

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—The epic four-day struggle of 200 Allied paratroopers to hold the Arnhem bridge to the last man, one of the most dramatic stories of the war, was told by Chester Wilmet of the British radio.

The heroic stand of the airborne soldiers, who faced point-blank fire from Tiger tanks, flame throwers, mortars, grenades and continuous infantry assaults, was described to Wilmet by two senior staff officers from airborne headquarters, who crossed the river in a rubber boat under fire and came back through German territory in a British armored car.

The battle prevented the Germans from reinforcing their men at the Nijmegen bridge to the south, thus aiding the Allies in capture of the town, a vital gateway to the Reich.

When the first paratroops landed a week ago yesterday, Wilmet said, they went straight to the main road bridge at Arnhem. Only 200 managed to get there, but they held the northern end of the strategic structure from Sunday night until last Wednesday noon.

All this time the Germans attacked them incessantly. They brought up guns and shelled them. They brought up grenades and tried to blow the paratroopers out. They even brought up Tiger tanks and shelled them at point-blank range, but still the paratroopers held out.

By Wednesday afternoon, Wilmet continued, there were not enough men left to continue the struggle. The Germans threw in a powerful new assault and the stricken heroes could hold out no longer.

"They retreated," Wilmet said, "but not before they had blown up the bridge. Of all the trapped men, only a handful were left. They fought to the last man."

To the paratroopers it must have seemed that they had failed at their task, Wilmet observed, but by holding the bridge they prevented the Germans from pouring reinforcements across and down to Nijmegen, where Second Army forces were fighting for possession of the equally important bridge there.

12 KILLED AS TROOP CARRYING PLANE CRASHES

CAMP MACKALL, N. C., Sept. 25—Twelve airborne troops were dead today after a C-47 transport plane crashed in flames at Camp Mackall, N. C., last night during an airborne division's North Carolina war games.

The troops which included four troop carrier command plane crew members and eight paratroopers, went down to their flaming death in a corn field before the horrified view of 300 high ranking Army officers and newsmen attending the maneuver.

Names of the dead were withheld until the next of kin have been notified.

Camp Mackall public relations office also disclosed that 30 other airborne troops including glider and paratroop units were treated for injuries during the operations last night.

Spectators saw the plane flying in formation as sister ships discharged clusters of paratroopers in the twilight operation. Within seconds the plane swirled into a spin and crashed into the corn field. Many in the crowd thought the death object was a gasoline saturated flare as it burst into flames.

Army officials gave no cause for the accident pending an official investigation.

LONDON, Sept. 25—More than 1,200 American fortresses and liberators, strongly escorted with fighters, today smashed at rail marshalling yards, factories and military installations in the region of Frankfurt, Coblenz and Ludwigshafen in western Germany.

BULLETIN

LONDON, Sept. 25—An exchange telegraph news agency dispatch from Chungking quoted a Tokyo broadcast said today that American carrier-borne planes had carried out a heavy attack against Japanese bases in the Bonin Islands.

By International News Service

Heavy fighting was underway today in the Arnhem area of Holland, where British second army forces succeeded in thrusting reinforcements across the Lek river to relieve airborne soldiers holding a vital bridgehead on the invasion route to northern Germany.

The reinforcements crossed to the north bank of the Lek under cover of darkness, an official communiqué from the headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower revealed. The sky troops, despite constant Nazi fire, have held positions across the stream for a week.

A new penetration of the German border was announced east of Nijmegen on the Waal Rhine. The invading forces attacked in the neighborhood of the Reichswald forest and smashed through Nazi defenses to breach the border.

Front line dispatches said that Second Army units, aided by American paratroopers previously dropped in the area, had taken the town of Beek and driven two miles beyond the town into German territory.

Widen Bridgehead

Meantime, at the base of the British corridor stretching north through Holland, Allied columns pushed across the Bois Le Duc canal in a move to widen the bridgehead across the wall at Eindhoven. This thrust carried the Allies to the vicinity of Deurne and north toward Veghel, where British combat teams battered strong German opposition aside after throwing back a determined counter-attack from the village of Erp.

Retreating Nazi forces were shoved back from the Escaut canal to the general line of the Antwerp-Turnhout canal, and south of Aachen, in the area of Rotgen. Allied units made slight gains after reducing enemy strongpoints.

South towards Metz German troops remained strongly entrenched on the west side of the Moselle river. South of Metz the Nazis still offered fanatical resistance.

CURTIN HOLDS NO HOPE FOR QUICK JAP FALL

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 25—John Curtin, Australian prime minister, in a broadcast today said he could give no hope of an early conclusion of the war against Japan.

Australia would, like Britain in the war against Germany, become an organic base against Japan, he added.

Allied forces in the Pacific would reach massive proportions and Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt had agreed on strains and stresses on Australia double or treble what they had been.

"The main problem in the newly liberated areas is in the preservation of valuable industrial units from indiscriminate requisitioning by military forces."

The same report painted a dark picture of "an acute shortage of shoes and clothing," a thriving black market and the counterfeiting of ration cards.

Some measures have already been undertaken by the Allied control commission to help solve the problems.

"Unserviceable British battle dress" is being dyed for use by civilians, at the rate of about 20,000 to 25,000 outfits a month.

Requisitions have been submitted for three million pairs of shoes for men and children. Women are expected to get along with the locally-produced "sandals." Savaged shoes are being repaired at the rate of 5,000 pairs a week.

Efforts are being made to increase the fishing catch, and to move surplus fish from southern areas into Rome, the area of greatest need. The commission anticipates a catch of about 1,500 to 2,000 tons of tuna. Sardines and other surplus fish are being salted for use during the winter.

He emphasized that the Army itself announced its demobilization plans, based on the wishes of the soldiers, the "very day" Dewey's charge was made.

He identified another Republican charge—"that I have represented myself as indispensable" as a "malicious falsehood."

He declared that "perhaps the most ridiculous of these campaign falsifications is that this administration failed to prepare for war."

And on the issue of preserving the peace, the President asserted that the Republicans must not be permitted to "botch" the peace as he charged they did 25 years ago.

Mr. Roosevelt answered GOP campaign criticism of his age by saying he was too old for one thing—"I cannot talk out of both sides of my mouth at the same time."

Imitation Alleged

The Republicans, said the President, are trying to imitate the New Deal, and in endeavoring to persuade the people that the Democrats are responsible for the depression had been guilty of "the most obvious common or garden variety of fraud." He accused them generally of using the Hitler propaganda technique which he said was "never used in small falsehood, always a big one."

As the Republican presidential nominee rode across New Mexico and Texas last night, he ripped into shreds his tentative Oklahoma City speech, seventh and last of his 6,700-mile tour, and wrote instead a talk which tears into the Roosevelt record.

The Dewey who issued a statement yesterday that hereafter no punches will be pulled against an adversary who "has sunk to mere quoting from 'Mein Kampf' and to charges of 'fraud' and 'falsehood'" was reminiscent of the hard-hitting prosecutor who fought his way to national fame by his "racket-busting" exploits.

Raps Roosevelt

"In six speeches since the opening of this campaign," he said, "I have started to show the course I believe our country should take in the critical years ahead of us. My opponent, in his speech last night, indicated that he has no program and has sunk to mere quoting from 'Mein Kampf' and to charges of 'fraud' and 'falsehood.'"

"It is now more clear than ever that four terms as president is too many for any man and that 16 years would be far too long."

"Since the man who wants to be president for 16 years has now dropped the mask of a 'non-political' campaign, and is campaigning on the remote past, I shall feel free to examine his record with unvarnished candor in the future, beginning with a national broadcast from Oklahoma City, Monday Night, at 10 o'clock EWT."

Glass To Fly

"Nothing will deter me, however, from continuing to preserve our national unity for war and for the building of the peace or from presenting the forward-looking program if we are to have a successful America here at home."

Despite the obvious anger over the Roosevelt speech among Gov. Dewey's advisors there was a feeling that the President had made a strategic error by stepping out hor debate and "commence such proceedings against such persons as the facts may justify." The time for return trials, if any, was thus left indefinite and could be postponed until after the war.

Republicans have been demanding, inside and out of congress, that Kimmel and Short be given public trials before the Nov. 7 election. President Roosevelt indicated Friday that he intended to leave the matter in hands of the military boards, which have held hearings in Washington and Honolulu.

The Navy board is composed of Admiral Orin G. Murfin, Admiral Edward C. Kalbfus and Vice Admiral Adolphus Andrews, while the Army group is made up of Lt. Gen. George Gruent, Maj. Gen. Henry D. Russell and Maj. Gen. Walter H. Frank.

of the "commander-in-chief" role to trade punches in the political arena.

They pointed out that Gov. Dewey now is free to toss return punches without leaving himself open to possible criticism for assailing the "commander-in-chief."

(Continued from Page One) was continuing to slow activity, but that French troops have scored a two-mile advance in the sector five miles north of Baccarat.

Heavy American artillery continues to bounce shells off the Metz forts, he said, while elsewhere the German are licking wounds from a series of counterattacks.

The great series of daily advances have ended momentarily and now it is a tug-of-war to decide whether the war will be stalemated into winter. Meantime, the Germans are undergoing heavy punishment and are losing heavily in men and equipment, neither of which they can spare.

Fifth Army fighters under Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark smashed savagely through stubborn Nazi defenses to widen their gap in the center of the Gothic line and seize positions marking the farthest Allied advance in Northern Italy. Brazilian troops again rendered strong support.

Sorm Past Rimini

On the Adriatic flank of the battle line, where Eighth Army troops stormed past Rimini to slice up the Po valley, heavy fighting developed as the Germans tried desperately to stave off encirclement and complete disaster.

Far behind the fighting in Holland, German forces trapped in the French port of Calais received a merciless blasting from Allied heavy bombers, which swarmed across the channel to attack. Other four-engine aircraft were reported over German territory.

Japanese naval power in the Philippines apparently was broken after Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced a second shattering blow against the Manila area. Two days of air attacks, delivered by carrier-based planes of the U. S. Third Fleet, he disclosed, cost the enemy a total of 405 aircraft destroyed or damaged and 105 ships sunk or damaged, including two floating dry docks.

These withering raids, carried out without Japanese fleet interference, cost the American forces a total of 11 planes, 10 pilots and five air crewmen.

Failure of the Japanese fleet to strike was taken as an indication that the enemy navy has fled to home waters, leaving the Philippines to their fate.

Russian troops have invaded Czechoslovakia and Hungary, according to unofficial Moscow advices, while the official Soviet communique announced capture of Baltisky, important Nazi stronghold at the junction of the gulf of Finland and the Baltic sea.

Strategy Plans Secret

Strategy plans for the CG-13 glider remain a military secret, but some military circles openly urge its wider use for beach landings, notably in the Orient, to supplement slow moving invasion barges, which provide a broad enemy target.

These experts point out that expandable gliders could land more troops in less time despite initial anti-aircraft fire, than clusters of water-spider barges bobbing slowly into range of enemy machine-gun fire.

Army authorities regard the CG-13 as an important achievement in airborne warfare. In the face of reports that the glider program might be scrapped, a rumor originating after disastrous losses in Sicily, they point to the successful landings in Normandy, in Southern France and Holland.

Ten thousand army glider, parachute and ground troops were engaged in the airborne war games as a phase of the units training in preparation for overseas combat services.

In addition to the Army's big new CG-13 glider introduced also for the first time, was the landing of an entire field hospital in the combat area.

Under the maneuver, fifty-five C-47 transport planes will unload the hospital unit complete with 300 personnel, including world-famed flight nurses, portable and stationary X-ray equipment, and other medical and surgical facilities. Employing another new development, the planes will make a snatch pick-up, a non-landing technique of gliders evacuating wounded troops.

Success of the field hospital landing, army officials said, would set its seal for immediate use on the world's battle-fronts where wounded troops have been treated only by the evacuation medical set-up.

est votes this Fall that it has ever experienced. The reactionary will be retired to private life and that goes for Senator Taft. I believe our greatest problem is to see to it that the returning soldier has every opportunity for a job, education and for advancement. That is the least we can do. Let him read and let him vote. He knows how to take care of himself. All of us parents have found that out. Let us sting with defeat those who oppose the rights of our sons and daughters now serving their country on the battle front. Let us arrange our domestic front so as to give them every help when they return," declared Mr. Pickrel.

Local candidates also were introduced.

HOWARD PLEADS NOT GUILTY OF STEALING HOGS

Remember the Apple Days?

Remember those grim days during the Great Depression when men who couldn't find work stood on street corners selling apples?

Many of those apple peddlers had been prosperous... had had good jobs. They'd been making extra money... just as you are today. But the trouble was, they thought things would always be like that.

Are you making that mistake today? Or are you saving your extra money so that no matter what happens after the war you will have some money you can get your hands on?

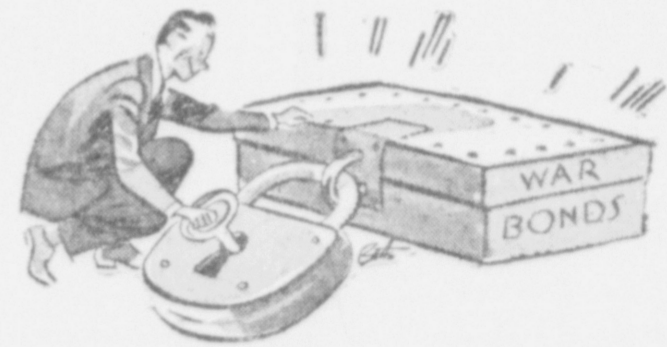

The best way to make sure that you will never be a street-corner peddler is to put your extra money into War Bonds.

War Bonds are the best investment in the world. Every $3 you put into them today will pay you back $4 ten years from now. And... best of all... you can never be broke while you've got a sheaf of War Bonds in your pocket!

So buy War Bonds... and more War Bonds. And hang on to them!

ELECTION SUSPENSE
IF the election is close, it may not be decided until the soldier votes are counted. In some states this will be nearly a month later.

The most recent election to keep people on tenterhooks for days was in 1916. Then the tight race between Wilson and Hughes was not settled until the result in outlying counties in California gave the state and the presidency to Wilson. This was late Thursday after the election. Even then Hughes did not give up hope till the end of the month, when the official count was made.

In 1884 it was not till ten days after the election that it became positive that Grover Cleveland had won over James G. Blaine.

The longest periods of uncertainty, however, were much earlier. In 1800, with the electoral vote a tie between Jefferson and Burr, the choice was made by the House of Representatives. Not till the 36th ballot and the 17th of February did the House choose Jefferson. In 1825, when this duty fell to the House again, one ballot was enough, but this was not taken until February 9.

The disputed election of 1876, turning on rival claims to have carried Florida, Louisiana and South Carolina, required a special electoral commission to settle it. This did not finish its work until March 2, 1877, only two days before Inauguration Day.

Any such delay would be highly unfortunate in this year of war. It would divide our citizens and encourage our enemies.

OUR TIES WITH EUROPE
MANY Americans think that Europe and the United States have nothing in common. Many Europeans know better. Premier Mechislav Gedvilas, of the newly organized Soviet Republic of Lithuania, announces his intention to "strengthen our ties with the United States, where 1,000,000 Lithuanians, or one-fourth of all our people in the world, have found a home."

The greatest Italian city in the world is not Rome, but New York. It is similar with many other European nationalities. This kinship of blood means a community of interests which needs only opportunity to assert itself.

And not so long ago people were wondering if there was ever going to be a second front.

Our Yanks lately have been fighting around Bologna, and, as any of 'em will tell you, doing it on baloney.

Argentina's Stand Is Threat
To "Good Neighbor" Policy
Disposal of War Surpluses
A Billion-Dollar Headache

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Could events fast shaping up in South America mean an end to Uncle Sam's "Good Neighbor" policy? The United States has spent millions of dollars in its sister democracies and has spent considerable time and effort through Nelson Rockefeller's Inter-American Affairs Office and other channels to induce South America to like us.

One sign last winter that all was NOT going well despite our best efforts was the charge of a returning United States senator who toured the continent that South Americans were labeling our Good Neighbor program the "goody-goody program."

Part of the present trouble in South America has been Argentina's traditional dislike for the United States and its feeling that Argentina, NOT the United States, should be the leading country on the continent. Another part of the trouble is the existence of rich and powerful German colonies in Argentina and Southern Brazil.

It all may add up to this: Good Neighbor policy or NOT, South America, led by Argentina, may declare its independence of the "Colossus of the North." And if Hitler and some of his henchmen find refuge in Argentina, that may prove the breaking point in United States-South American relations.

WHO WILL HANDLE 100 BILLION DOLLARS? Criticism has bobbed up among some members of Congress over the decision of House-Senate conferees to compromise the issue as to how and where authority over the disposal of surplus war plants and property should be vested.

The one big question before the conference committee was whether the power to dispose of surplus war plants and property, which it is

BATT STILL CLINGS TO SKF
WASHINGTON—Sometime ago, when Donald Nelson suggested to WPB vice chairman William Batt that things would be less embarrassing for him if he severed his connection with the SKF ball-bearing company, Batt replied that he could not afford to give up a connection he had had for twenty-five years and could not afford to live on a Government salary.

Batt has been under fire because the parent SKF company in Sweden has been shipping ball-bearings to Germany, without which the Nazis could not build airplanes. While Batt's SKF company in Philadelphia is in no way responsible for letting the Nazis have ball-bearings, many have felt that he might at least resign in protest against the policy of the Swedish affiliate.

However, he hasn't. In contrast B. W. Taylor, who had been with SKF for more than twenty years, resigned because he could not stand having ball-bearings shipped to the Nazis from an affiliate company. He is now a lieutenant commander in the Navy.

Also Major John F. Tawresy, now with the Air Corps at Wright Field, resigned from SKF after twenty-two years of service because he could not stand the "foul order." He had been assistant chief engineer of SKF for fifteen years.

Also R. W. Hirsch, manager of the Detroit district for SKF, resigned after twenty-seven years of service, and took a much smaller salary with an American company in Toledo.

If Batt should resign from SKF, it would be a terrible blow to the Swedes. His position as vice chairman of the War Production Board gives SKF prestige and helps to smudge over the black mark against them for shipping ball-bearings to Germany. But he will not give up his SKF salary.

JESSE JONES' NEPHEW
Just before the recent turbulent Texas Democratic convention, Governor Coke Stevenson approached forthright ex-Governor Jimmy Allred, who was leading the fight for Roosevelt. Governor Stevenson had just spent a good part of a day with Jesse Jones in Washington, and he said to Allred, in brief, "Jimmy, this is the Governor's convention, and I'm running for re-election. I'd like to ask one favor of you. I'd like to see George Butler appointed chairman of the convention."

Jimmy Allred almost exploded. George Butler is Jesse Jones' nephew, and the man who chaired the May Texas convention which appointed electors pledged not to vote for Roosevelt next November. So Allred replied: "Coke, it's all I can do to keep them from lynching George Butler, let alone making him Democratic chairman."

WILLKIE'S "ILLNESS"
Wendell Willkie has been mysteriously laid up in a New York hospital. He is not really ill, but is reported recuperating from a long, nervous period during which he was resisting overtures from both Roosevelt and Dewey, and writing magazine articles on what the platforms of both parties should be.

It is suspected also that there may be a tincture of political illness about Willkie's sojourn in the hospital. He was supposed to try a case in California at just about this

DIET AND HEALTH

A Poor Showing On Physical Fitness

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.
THIRTEEN per cent of American men in a group of college age could not swim at all, and 64 per cent of them could not swim 50 yards. Three per cent of them could not chin themselves once. Twenty-six per cent could not chin themselves five times. Twenty-four per cent could not jump an obstacle waist high. Fifty per cent could not make the muscles of the abdomen hard enough to resist a fist pushed in by the examiner. Seventy-nine per cent could not lift the legs from the floor twenty times when lying on the back and then do twenty sit ups in succession.

These statements are almost unbelievable, considering this was a group of boys about 18 years of age. They did not belong to an underprivileged class. They were preparing to enter a state university. Somewhere along the line of their preliminary education they must have heard of mens sana in corpore sano. Yet there the flabby muscles, bedraggled specimens were.

Even I at the age of 60 and weighing over two hundred, having gone through five wars, prohibition, and three major financial depressions, with consequent damage to a good deal of my plumbing, can do these things. I did them yesterday. This is not offered boastfully. I am no Ben Hur Macfadden, nor have I ever subscribed to the doctrines of the big muscle boys. I admit I fudged a little on the fifth chin, but that every boy in the United States, 18 years old and not actually crippled, should not be able to accomplish these stunts is shocking.

THE auxiliary of Howard Hall Past, American Legion, joined in the national observance of Gold Star Mothers' Day by sending remembrances to Circleville mothers whose sons died during World War I.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT
MRS. REYNOLDS was feeling her best and very much inclined to pooh-pooh her indisposition of the night before. "Anne pushed her along, coming back from the boatyard where they'd watched the humming activity of early summer. She was gay.

"And I don't intend saying it was the soft shell crabs that were to blame. I like soft shell crabs. I always have liked them, and I don't intend giving them up. We always lived on crabs and oysters and good fish, and that's why we live longer than other people." She chortled.

"It may also be why other people get ahead faster, but that's beside the point. I hope we have crab cakes for lunch."

"Don't you think that just today?" "No, I don't. I know what you're going to say. I'm all right and I won't eat nap."

On smooth places the old lady could work her own chair along, but the road to the boatyard was all holes and bumps. The remains of a shell road. She clung to the arms of her chair as Anne pushed carefully.

"I'm certainly making you work. But you knew what we were up against. I got a laugh every time I read about our wonderful roads. Shell roads were always bad enough, but now they don't even pretend to keep them up. I dare say nobody's supposed to come to this part of town. Want to stop and rest?"

"This isn't hard. In the hospital we really worked. Some, yes—"

Anne stopped short. The old lady chuckled. "Don't stop. Go right on and tell me about the hospital. How long were you in training? And don't fib to me. I knew the first day you were with me that you knew a whole lot more than anyone could learn simply by taking care of an invalid mother."

There was a little silence. Anne got the chair up on a sidewalk at last, and even a rough brick walk seemed smooth after the shell road.

"There we are. Now the rest is easy, but you'd better let me push you until we turn into Morris street. Are you all comfortable?" "Yes. And waiting to hear about you—hospital work."

Anne laughed. "You're only teasing me."

"Anne, girl, I think you're getting secretive. You won't even tell me who you were out walking with last night."

"Why shouldn't I tell you? It was the dog—Suky is his name, I think, and—"

The old lady grunted. "If you won't tell me, you won't. When I was young, more or less, we used to say, 'Ask me no questions and I'll tell you no lies. It was a good saying. And—"

"Why, there's Laura's car. She must be home. Maybe she decided she'd have a good lunch with us after running away this morning without breakfast. That's one trick I never knew her to do before. She likes her morning coffee, however else she pretends to be above food. Maybe it was a kind of penance because she locked you out last night. I heard you ringing, so I rang my bell for her. The funniest part of it was the ringing sounded like Russell's way of doing it. I was thinking about Russell when I went to sleep, that's why, I guess."

"I'm sorry I woke you up, Mrs. Reynolds. It was wrong of me to go out."

"Wrong? Nonsense. It's your home. You go in and out just as much as you want to. A glorious night like last night I'd have gone dancing around the streets if I had any legs to do it with. Now that I can't do things, I can think of a lot of things I missed. I suppose that's always the way. But I am surprised at Laura coming home."

Anne said nothing, but instinctively she prepared for trouble. She had seen Laura's face as she came in last night. She had been glad and at the same time apprehensive this morning when she found Laura had gone off breakfastless. Now!

"What is she up to?" snapped the old lady, whose eyes were keen. She pointed a bony forefinger. "There are some bags on the porch. Don't tell me she's decided to take a little trip and get over her bad temper. Anne drew a quick breath as she saw the bags were hers, but she said nothing as she pushed the chair up the ramp onto the porch. Mrs. Reynolds tapped one of the bags with her cane and laughed. "Not Laura's. We must be having company. Let's hustle and see."

"They're my bags," Anne managed to say lightly. "Your bags? What are they doing out here?" "I don't know."

"Laura!" The old woman used her cane to pull open the screen door and wheeled herself into the house. "Laura! Where are you?"

Laura came out of the living room. She was very sure of herself. "Yes, Mother."

"What are Anne's bags doing on the front porch?" "The dark girl shrugged scornfully. "Oh, that Anne's leaving. I packed her things and put the bags out there so she'd be sure to catch the train."

"They were all in the hall now, Anne by the front door, her face suddenly pale under its coat of tan. The old lady turned to her angrily.

"What's this about your running away, after you promised today to stay all summer?"

Laura's voice was cold and precise. "It is a matter of my deciding, not Anne's." "Packed so she wouldn't need to go upstairs or even come in at all. Her clothes are on the porch. I have her check here and there is no reason for her to stay."

"Are you crazy?" "No, Mother. I'm quite sane at last. I warned you about this girl, but you wouldn't listen. Now we have to try to repair the damage she's done."

"You are crazy, Laura," the old woman gaped. "Anne, pay no attention to her. I'm hungry. Push me into the dining room."

"Anne WILL pay attention to me," Laura's eyes flamed darkly. "I will not let her come a foot farther into this house. I could stand stupidity and incompetence, but not sneaking and lying and—"

Quarrels and/or business difficulties will give way to gain, possibly by legacy, but it may be by dissonant. Try to be tactful and tolerant. Born today, a child will, if born early in the day, be of a loving and affectionate disposition, enjoying much popularity and success. CHANCE OF COMPARISON

IN RUBBER bridge, you may guess about what other people would have done with the same hand, but you cannot be sure. Duplicate enables you to get an exact comparison of two distinctly different kinds of propositions—bidding and play. You may wonder if anybody would have got into the same contract you did, or if anybody would reach a certain contract. You also may wonder if anybody who got into a certain contract would make it, or if someone would find the defense to set it. Duplicate gives you real human answers to these questions.

One South considered his hand weak enough for an original 3-spades shout effort, the others deeming it strong enough for a pass followed by later bidding. Only one proved costly—where South decided to leave in the 3-No Trump contract instead of taking out to a spade game. He thought his side queens made that a good pass.

In the spade play, only three tricks were lost, regardless of the lead chosen, as the spades got eliminated and the clubs set up early enough to discard one of the red suit losers on the clubs, so that only one trick was lost in the red suits and one each in the two black ones.

At No Trumps the heart 5 was led West held up his K, and the dummy was blocked, the contract getting slaughtered.

During seven years as coach at Florida A. & M., Bell's team won three conference titles and had a streak of 20 victories in 21 games, the best record a Negro coach ever had achieved. His schedule this fall will be climaxed Nov. 11 by a game with Morgan college in Washington, D. C.

GREAT LAKES 11 SHOWS POWER IN DOWNING PURDUE

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—The Great Lakes naval training football squad, which kicked over the apparent invincible Notre Dame outfit in the last few seconds of the South Bend 1943 schedule, looks like a good bet today to have another glittering season.

As part of the curtain-raising for the 1944 collegiate football parade Saturday, the Bluejackets tripped Purdue, 27 to 18. Some great reports have been coming out of Lafayette, Ind., on the Boilermaker squad fashioned by former Green Bay pro star Cecil Isbell in his first year as Purdue coach. But, the Great Lakes squad, despite bitter opposition, punched out the victory after the lead changed hands four times.

Another stirring last-period triumph was scored by the Iowa Seahawks over Minnesota, 19-13. After being penalized back to their own 26 for slugging and offside, and seeing Williams, left half, snake his way through for a touchdown, the Seahawks found a Minnesota weak spot when they took to the air successfully in the last five minutes of the final quarter.

The grandpappy of Saturday's thrilling contest yesterday, however, was the U. C. L. A.-University of Southern California 13-13 tie.

The Trojans had pushed over two touchdowns in the second quarter, but, in the final period, the Bruins went over the Trojans goal after a 49-yard march in six plays. And ran 74 yards for another score. Bob Waterfield, Bruin back, got set for the conversion as thousands crowded around the sidelines and the area to the rear of the goalposts.

The Waterfield kick hit the crossbar and an upright and bounced at a sharp angle. The crowd enveloped the players and officials, and it was three minutes before the ref could signal that the tying point had been made.

A less thrilling but mightily significant victory was scored by Illinois over Indiana, 26 to 18. With more than half the 1943 Illinois lettermen gone, the Illini pounded out a triumph sparked by John Greenwood's 65-yard run on an interception and his 21-yard touchdown pass to Buddy Young in the fourth period.

YANKS KNOCKED OUT OF AL RACE

Brownies Still One Game Behind Pace-Setting Detroit Tigers

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—The never-say-die New York Yankees fans who have determinedly reserved seats at Yankee stadium for the World Series now may begin wiring in their cancellations. The Yankees, after staging a spectacular late-season climb, now have reached the point where, in the last week of the season, they would have to win all their remaining games while the leading Detroit Tigers were losing five. And you know that's not going to happen.

The Cleveland Indians achieved the virtual elimination of the New Yorkers from the chaotic American League flag race with a single win over the McCarthymen Sunday, 4 to 1. Mel Harder racked up his 12th victory on four hits, one of which was George Stinewess' inside-the-park homer in the sixth. The Indians rapped Hank Borowy for all their runs in the fifth.

The Tigers, who win when the chips are down, rounded out another single-game triumph over the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 5, as brilliant Hal Newhouse turned in his 27th victory of the year. Three Boston pitchers were pounded for 15 hits. Pinky Higgins leading the attack by driving in five runs. Yank Terry was charged with the defeat when he lasted less than five innings. Newhouse ran into only one spot of trouble; that was in the sixth when he yielded three runs on five straight hits.

The fighting St. Louis Browns kept to within one game of Detroit when they staged a wild and victorious rally in the ninth inning after two were out to beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 3 to 2. The Brownies scored all their runs on that last gasp to give Jack Kramer the win. Mark Christman's double and a single for Floyd Baker, substitute infielder, sealed the contest for the Brownies.

In the only Al twin bill of the day, the Chicago White Sox trimmed the Washington Senators twice, 9 to 3 and 2 to 0. Bill Lee went the route to take the first game on five hits as his teammates hit three Senators for 15 safeties. Ed Lopat took the nightcap on six hits.

The St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Philadelphia Phillies twice. The first contest was a 16-inning marathon won on a 4 to 3 score by Whitey Kurowski's homer. Mort Cooper and Ken Raffensberger went the entire distance in a brilliant pitching duel. The Cards took the afterpiece, 1 to 0, when Ken O'Dea was forced in with the sole run of the game to give Ed Wilks the triumph.

The Cincinnati Reds trounced the Boston Braves twice, 2 to 1 and 1 to 0. Harry Gumbert and Jim Tobin locked in a first-game hurling duel, each allowing only six hits. An error by Whitey Weitemann in the sixth, however, gave Gumbert the game. Arnold Carter chalked up a nice three-hitter in the nightcap as Frank McCormick was forced in with the winning run.

The Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago Cubs divided, the Dodgers winning the first game, 10 to 3, and the Cubs the second, 4 to 3. Curt Davis became the Bums' first ten-game winner in the opener when the Cubs committed four errors to give Les Fleming the loss. Bill Nicholson, Cubs' powerhouse, batted his 33rd homer in the nightcap, then slashed in the winning run in the ninth. Paul Derringer was credited with the win and Art Herring took the loss.

The New York Giants winning the opener, 5 to 4, but dropping the afterpiece, 3 to 2 in ten innings. Bill Voiselle hung up his 21st triumph in the first game and Nick Strincevich took the second. Immediately after the twin bill, Giants' Manager Mel Ott announced that first baseman Phil Weintraub was suspended for the rest of the season because of his lackadaisical attitude.

PACKERS, RAMS SEVEN CONTESTS TOP PRO GRID ON WEEK'S OHIO LOOP STANDINGS COLLEGE CARD

By International News Service
The Green Bay Packers and the Cleveland Rams were out in front today in the National Football League as the result of victories, respectively, over the Chicago Bears and the newly combined Chicago Cardinal-Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Packers drove the sell-out crowd of 25,000 in the Green Bay city stadium practically hysterical with joy Sunday by defeating the favored Bears 42 to 28 after the Chicagoans had rallied from a 28 to 8 deficit to tie the score at 28-28.

The Cleveland Rams, returning to action after a season's lay-off, whipped the Card-Steel combination, 30 to 28, after the lead had changed three times previously in the struggle at Forbes field, Pittsburgh, before 20,968 spectators.

SCRIBES RANK CANTON ELEVEN TOP OHIO TEAM.

Massillon Slips To Sixth After Losing; Warren Team Is Second

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 25—Canton McKinley ruled Ohio's scholastic football roost today after a blistering week-end schedule which saw a half dozen gridiron titans fall for the first time, including Massillon's mighty Tigers.

International News Service's weekly poll among Ohio sports editors showed that McKinley was an almost unanimous choice for the top rung following a sensational 6-0 triumph by Cleveland Cathedral Latin over once-potent Massillon. While the famed Tigers went down to their first defeat in two years and their third since 1933, McKinley fully capitalized on the situation by swamping Youngstown Woodrow Wilson, 59-0. By the same triumphant score, the Bulldogs opened their season last week against Akron South.

Only a week ago as the 1944 season got underway Massillon became the early choice of four out of every five of the state's scribes as Ohio's No. 1 team. While the Tigers were impressive in disposing of Akron West, 60-7, in their opener, they gained considerable support for top honors on the strength of their unbeaten 1943 campaign.

Their stay at the top of the pack this season, however, was short lived. Ranked first last week in the eyes of the experts, the Tigers skidded all the way to a sad sixth in losing to a powerful but surprising Cathedral Latin eleven.

As McKinley moved out in front, the Bulldogs' second place rating of a week ago fell this week to Warren Harding, which scored an impressive 26-0 win over Youngstown Ursuline. It was the Presidents' second straight win, having defeated Hubbard, 34-0, in last week's lifeline.

Third place went to the plucky Cathedral Latin club in recognition of its triumph over highly-publicized Massillon. Winner over Cleveland Ignatius by a score of 6-0 in their opener, the Latins failed to show among the first 10 in last week's inaugural poll of the season.

Columbus North, another team which missed the top 10 a week ago, gained fourth place as the Polar Bears punched out a 26-6 win over Newark to end the Wildcats' 12-game win streak.

Defeating Cleveland Benedictine, 13-0, Mansfield managed to hang onto its fifth place listing for at least another week. Sixth place went to Massillon, after its unfortunate capitulation to Cathedral Latin, and seventh place fell in the hands of Lorain. Undeafened since Oct. 1, 1942, Lorain extended its winning streak to 14 games in defeating Fremont Ross, 13-7.

East Liverpool, ranked seventh a week ago, slipped to eighth although the Potters emerged 20-7 winners over Steubenville.

Martins Ferry was perhaps the most popular choice for secondary honors. The Purple Riders were singled out by all but one or two scribes for mention among the top 10 teams. Most ballots favored the Riders for ninth place and ninth it is for Coach Fred Thomas' Ohio river valley eleven this week. Last week

Health Education Experiment Watched By Local Educators

27 SCHOOLS OF STATE ENGAGE IN RESEARCH

Pupils To Be Prepared For Service Both On War And Home Fronts

Pickaway county educators are watching with interest an experiment in a new health program being tried out in a few schools in Ohio.

The state department of health in cooperation with the department of education is sponsoring an elective course in school and community health education in senior high schools.

Only 27 schools in the state were selected to participate in the program. Included are Akron, Alliance, Bedford, Bellville, Cleveland, East Sparta, Greenville, Ironton, Massillon, Maumee, McArthur, Ottawa Hills, Parma, Shadyside, Urbana, Worthington and Xenia. All high schools in the state were given a chance to participate but local schools found it impossible to meet rigid state requirements.

Miss Wilma Snider, recently appointed by State Education Director Kenneth C. Ray as assistant supervisor of health and physical education in the education department, is state consultant in this experimental health project.

Objective Outlined

She stated the general objectives of the program will stress preparation of senior high school students for service in the armed forces by providing a pre-induction course in health and preparation for service on the home front by offering specialized training in needed areas such as home nursing and first aid.

"We have suggested," Miss Snider explained, "five units for this health education project. The first is designed to help students to meet general health objectives. Physical examinations are given by the school doctor or the local health commissioner for an analysis of the individual's health status."

"Any physical impairment," she continued, "such as that of vision, hearing, and teeth are to be corrected. This unit also emphasizes prevention and control of diseases, better nutrition, balanced daily living, and sound mental attitudes."

Wartime Service

Emphasizing special wartime services, the second unit offered instruction in prevention of accidents at school and at home, in industry and on farms, first aid for common ailments and accidents, and nursing skills.

In the study of family health the responsibility of the individual was stressed as well as maternal health and infant and pre-school child care. To utilize the efforts of all private, state, and federal agencies and local health departments, the work and contributions of each were under consideration.

"Community health," Miss Snider said, "is also very important. Citizens should know about the problems of communicable diseases, housing, water supply, sewage and garbage disposal, insects and animals, and food handling."

Funds for this experiment were allotted to the state department of education through a grant from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Mich. The money, Miss Snider said, is to be specifically expended for workshops, in-service training of teachers, and printing of publications.

KINGSTON BOY SCOUTS SET FOR SCRAP DRIVE

Boy Scout Troop 5 of Kingston will hold another scrap drive Wednesday, beginning at 6 p. m. Scrap paper, magazines, rags and scrap metal will be collected.

He pointed out that darkness comes sooner now and the Scouts can complete their drive in one evening only with this cooperation from the public. He also requested that magazines and scrap paper be tied in bundles or placed in boxes.

Also Willkie may be enjoying a diplomatic rest in the hospital in order to avoid the proposed meeting with Roosevelt before November. Actually he would like to confer with the President about plans for peace, but doesn't want to have it look too political.
Hull As Campaign Censor
Nothing has leaked out about it, but Secretary Hull has sent orders down the line to key Democrats that he doesn't want foreign policy brought into the campaign as a political issue by Roosevelt supporters.
Actually, Presidential advisers and several of Hull's fellow Cabinet members are burnt up over the Secretary of State's demand. They point out that despite any agreement Hull may have reached with John Foster Dulles, Dewey and other GOP speakers are talking foreign policy all over the place. They claim that, since the Republicans are using foreign policy as a campaign issue, Hull's policy is like fighting with one hand tied behind your back.
Blow-off came the other day when Attorney General Biddle submitted a speech to the OWI for clearance. In the speech he criticized Republican foreign policy before Pearl Harbor. Noting this, OWI informed Biddle's office that Hull had banned this subject in political speeches. One OWI official went even further and told Biddle aides that the State Department objected to any attack on Dewey's ability to handle foreign policy because "it might make Dewey's handling of foreign affairs difficult if he became President."
Biddle's aides, however, refused to accept OWI's censorship. They demanded that Hull be asked specifically about the Attorney General's speech. When it was referred to the Secretary of State, he backed down and Biddle delivered the speech as planned.
